Nautical Terminology

'He Knows the Ropes'

In the very early days, this phrase was written on a seaman's discharge to indicate that he was still a novice. All he knew about being a sailor was just the names and uses of the principal ropes (lines). Today, this same phrase means the opposite, that the person fully knows and understands the operation (usually of the organization).

'Let the Cat Out of the Bag'

This phrase has its origins in the grim ceremony of removing the rope or rawhide “cat-o'-nine-tails” from its carrying bag in preparation of flogging an offender. It was eventually applied to any other untimely, if less serious, revelation, which could lead to punishment.

'Hunky-Dori'

This term, meaning everything is OK, was coined from a street named Honki-Dori in Yokohama. As the inhabitants of this street catered to the pleasures of Sailors, one can readily understand why the street's name became synonymous for anything that is enjoyable or satisfactory.

'Cup of Joe'

Josephus Daniels was appointed Secretary of the Navy by President Woodrow Wilson in 1913. Among his reforms of the Navy were inaugurating the practice of making 100 Sailors from the Fleet eligible for entrance into the Naval Academy, the introduction of women into the service, and the abolishment of the officers' wine mess. From that time on, the strongest drink aboard Navy ships could only be coffee and over the years, a cup of coffee became known as “a cup of Joe.”
